FOREWORD

Here is the picture story of what happened at Birmingham-Southern College when the war was over, when the veterans flocked back to take their places once again in Ramsay, in the Bookstore, in Munger, and everywhere else on the Hilltop. Here is the result of the reassertion of the educational ambitions of some 1500 students as they sought seriously to prepare themselves for their proper place in the post-war progress of a greater America.

Here is the picture story of the efforts of the student body of Birmingham-Southern to achieve a maximum of accomplishment in scholastic realms without sacrificing those extracurricular activities so indispensable to making college life the most memorable episode in their very significant lives. It seemed as if it were to be their destiny not only to be participants in the greatest war of history, but also to be the men and women upon whom rested the Herculean task of demonstrating whether or not American education could cope with the most turbulent problems of this, or any, era. How did the students at Birmingham-Southern react? What did they do to realize the dreams they had conjured up while in the South Pacific, in Italy, over Tokyo? And what have they been doing to prepare themselves to become citizens of a world that will not allow the horrible holocaust they have endured to occur again?

The key to the future, then, may be found in the following pages. For in the social, political, and scholastic activities of the students who have been so fortunate as to attend 'Southern may be found to some extent the amount of success that our great experiment in peacetime living and education will enjoy.

Perhaps, too, it is more than that. Perhaps it is an indication of the amount of ability we have to fulfill our new American destiny. What we learn here undoubtedly will be the basis for our tomorrow's relations with each other and with the world.

So take then this record of Birmingham-Southern in 1946-47. Scrutinize it, criticize it, praise it. But above all, remember that it is no better than what you yourself have made it.

The Editor

DEDICATION

For many years Madelyn Thomas Hale's devoted service, remarkable efficiency, and constant cordiality have made student life at Birmingham-Southern easier and more enjoyable.

Those of us who left the campus for service in the armed forces remembered Mrs. Hale while we were away as the symbol of that which was good in college life. When we returned, her smile, her friendship, and her remarkable ability for remembering us assured us that Birmingham-Southern had changed but little while we were away.

For those of us who stayed on during the war, the difficulties of those trying years were cushioned by Mrs. Hale's kind assistance and cheerful way.

Our days at Birmingham-Southern, then, will be more fondly remembered because of that intangible quality of goodness that she lent to them. To Mrs. Wyatt W. Hale, therefore, this 1947 Southern Accent is gratefully dedicated.

The success of a college is to a great degree dependent upon the success of its President. That Birmingham-Southern has succeeded so well in these years of great difficulty for education is a tribute to the foresight, leadership, and ability of our President, Dr. George R. Stuart.

Dr. Stuart has put meaning into the idea that the president of a college should be a friend to the students. For, besides conducting capably the many functions of his high office, Dr. Stuart has taken time to manifest his interest in the well-being of each and every student. This spirit has permeated all Birmingham-Southern's activities, and Southern's students can well be proud of having not only a recognized educational leader for their President, but also a friend.

Erected in 1928 by a generous gift of $250,000 from the R. S. Munger family, Munger Memorial Hall has become a tradition and a landmark in Birmingham-Southern's history. For, in Munger, the school receives its breath of life. There the college wakes up in the morning; there it receives its supply of lifeblood for its many functions; and there it goes to sleep in the evening after all the other buildings have completed their functions and have retired.

Munger sees the daily duties of the President, the Bursar, the Registrar, the Dean, and a large number of teachers and assistants dutifully carried out. From Munger comes that steady stream of notices from the Dean's office or from Mr. Gaines. From Munger come the ideas for new schedules, new professors, and new forms for students to fill out. "Second Floor Munger" has become a phrase for Hilltop students that means a great deal; without what that phrase connotes there could be no Birmingham-Southern.

Into Munger daily flows an ever-increasing number of students with schedule problems, credit difficulties, and scholastic problems. And into Munger, there comes Southern's students who wish to obtain those erudite gems of history, speech, religion, literature, and what-have-vou.

And, moreover, in Munger Auditorium, a Birmingham-Southern student sees a symbol of what an active college can do. Here not only are held convocations, but also Town Hall series, May Courts, Cat's Paws, and many other activities indispensable to collegiate life.

Munger certainly is then the building that most Hilltoppers will remember most after they have completed their days on Enon Ridge. Its stately columns and imposing site will long hold an important place in the hearts of those who attended Birmingham-Southern.

Dr. Henry T. Shanks

The many duties of Dean fell to Dr. Henry T. Shanks. With his friendly spirit and earnest helpfulness, Dr. Shanks led the student body of Birmingham-Southern to a successful year. Besides his able administrative leadership, Dr. Shanks taught eagerly attended classes in American and English history.

Mary Holmes Sensabaugh

Birmingham-Southern's Dean of Women for 1946-47 was capable and charming Mrs. Mary Holmes Sensabaugh. Always friendly and interested in the problems of women students, Mrs. Sensabaugh earned a place of high esteem in the hearts of Hilltop women.

The girls and music lovers found Stockham Building a familiar and hospitable place throughout the year.

The FACULTY

On these pages and on the ones following are a few pictures, formal or otherwise, of 'Southern's faculty at work. These are the men and women upon whom fell the tremendous task of instructing not only the regular flow of college students but also the great influx of war veterans looking for an opportunity to acquire a liberal arts education. Since these instructors so magnanimously performed their job, the Accent presents these pictures as a tribute to their fulfillment of a difficult mission.

BIRMINGHAM-SOUTHERN COLLEGE

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

A Message to the Students

This year was the greatest in the history of Birmingham-Southern. All college activities were expanded and speeded up by the tremendous number of students, new and old, who came to the Hilltop last fall.

You, the students, are the center of our campus life and it is for you that generous citizens make large and small contributions in support of the college. We are constantly planning and working to help you develop through effective teaching, through a religious program of genuine spiritual value, and through music, recreation, games and sports for all students.

As teachers and administrators, we thoroughly enjoy the friendly and intimate relationship with the students for which Birmingham-Southern is noted. We are proud of your achievements and covet for you the richest and happiest experiences.

Sincerely yours,

G. R. Stuar

Our EXCHANGE Students

A cosmopolitan touch was added to the Birmingham-Southern campus this past year by the presence of seven students from foreign lands. From Colombia, Southern was proud to have five able, friendly, and interesting fellow students: Jaime Acevedo, David Daza, Maria Durán, Ester Wasserman, and Hector Alarcón. From Lebanon, Anthony Kawerk and Kamal Yackzan endeavored to explain the way of life of their country to us, while the intricacies, inconsistencies, and difficulties of American government and American thought were conveyed to them.

The friends that these students made both for themselves and for their countries have served to vindicate those who have always believed that an interchange of students between nations is essential to world well-being. We indigenous Southern students can only hope that these students from Lebanon and Colombia have obtained as high a regard for us as we have acquired for them.

To all of you from foreign lands, then, we say thanks for your friendship, your interest, and your understanding. We've enjoyed having you with us, and we look forward to seeing more of you.

ACTIVITIES

The STUDENT

Birmingham-Southern has been particularly fortunate in having an able student government. Through its three bodies—the Executive Council, the Honor Council, and the Student Life Committee—student government at Southern has run smoothly and efficiently, without destroying the color of campus elections or the experience imparted through energetic campaigns for various offices on the Hilltop.

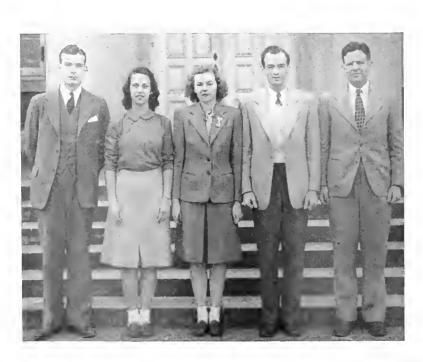

The Executive Council has performed well its duties as the governing unit of the student body. The Council's obligations to the students cover a thousand and one details. The Council, led during the past year by Louie Camp and Hugh Locke, has aided in the preservation of the customs, traditions, and ideals of the college. It has performed an excellent job in supervising the extra-curricular activities of the students, and it has managed the all-important expenditure of the contingent fund.

One of the least conspicuous, but far from the least active, organizations on the campus is the Honor Council. Headed in the summer quarter by Johnny Jeff and by Tim Conway in the Fall, Winter, and Spring Quarters, the Honor Council diligently pursued its duties in all phases of campus life. Through assiduous work and through speeches like the one made to Convocation in the Winter Quarter by Tim Conway, the Honor Code was explained to students and made an integral part of their existence on the Hilltop.

The Student Life Committee, a sub-division of the legislative body of the Hilltop, continued through this year with its important functions of passing on rules and regulations governing dances and social functions.

The year just past has left Southern a fine tradition of good student government.

HONOR COUNCIL

Norton Ellis Ogletree Conway Hatley

In addition to silent work in the academic field, the members of the Honor Council assisted in conducting student elections and in counting ballots, supervised signing of Honor Code pledge cards, and contributed editorials to the Hilltop News.

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Executive Council, under the leadership of Louie Camp as President of the Student Body, began the year by presenting a gym party to welcome new students to the Hilltop. As the year rolled on, the Council appointed Lil Nabors and Hugh Locke as cochairmen-in-charge of arranging for our annual celebration of "Sadie Hawkins Day"... it purchased platforms for dances in the gym... it elected Lil Nabors to represent the college in the Christmas Carnival festivities...

With the installation of Hugh Locke as President of the Student Body in the Winter Quarter, the Council sponsored "Cat's Paw" . . . it helped the school to finance our first intercollegiate basketball team since the discontinuance of intercollegiate athletics . . . basketball awards were given to players by the council . . . Marty Stinson and Jack Conway were selected to plan the biggest May Day celebration in Southern's history . . . the Executive Council has sponsored a campaign to keep students off the grass . . . And it has given Executive Council awards to the two seniors who in the opinion of the faculty have rendered the most service to the school . . .

CATHERINE STONE

Business Manager

Cramped because of post-war soaring book costs, this year's Southern Accent may not contain everything that the editor planned for it, but in the antics of Pete Panther and in the effort to obtain better pictures for a better annual, this 1947 yearbook is a reflection of a real attempt to make a successful Southern Accent.

To "Stony" fell the task of getting down on paper the pecuniary pledges of the campus organizations and of Magic City business houses. That, despite her sundry school activities, she did an excellent job is ably demonstrated by this Southern Accent.

ACCENT

The Southern Accent had the wind and the rain in its hair before it came off the press this time. Delays because of rain in taking group pictures, delays because of staff changes, delays because of postwar supply shortages—delays mutilated the deadline schedule for the Southern Accent. But—thanks to a nucleus of faithful workers who were always there when needed—Irvin Lande finally whipped together the editorial side of this year's Southern Accent.

Especial thanks must be given to David Shugerman, who, with his assiduous shutter-clicking, did the lion's share of the photography in this year's panther-painted Accent. Dave was assisted ably and capably by Johnny Stewart and June Alexander. Those irresistible panthers that lounge inadvertantly on the division pages came from the talented hand of Bill Moriarity. And the sports sections were completely and entertainingly written by Joe Cunniff and "Bib" Hughes. In the more prosaic fields, Sue McNamee rendered invaluable service with identification of pictures, suggestions, and typing. Sue was helped considerably by Marie Burg, Aline Chestnut, Anne Lewis, and Marjorie Renegar.

On the other half of the picture, there would have been no yearbook had there been no money to back it. Catherine Stone, assisted by her little girls in red-and-white, got that job. To Bill Brown, Constance Puls, Claradel Scogin, Marti Stinson, Blanche Brandes, Marilyn Cooper, Pat Brittain, and the others who helped her, et al, "Stony" owes her thanks.

This is the yearbook of the Birmingham-Southern student body—the culmination of a year's hard work to produce a memorable document to record a year's events.

HILLTOP

BETTY HAWKINS

Betty burned the midnight tallow as she got out the Hillton News, assisted professors, and attended to personal "engagements" on the side. She saw to it that the post-war Hilltop News was on the job at every Southern function.

Proving that change indicates growth, this year's NEWS grew to six and even eight page editions in line with its policy of local coverage first. Keeping up with the outsized postwar student body fell first into the hands of Betty Hawkins for the Summer, Fall, and Winter Ouarters, then to Thelma Paxton for the Spring. Various retirements in the business department brought J. D. Gonia, Johnny Jeff, and Marilyn Cooper to office in quick succession.

Staffed to the gills and set up in the oncedeserted NEWS office on the second floor of the Gym, "The Paper" took precedence over all other activities of its chiefs and their page editors: Thelma Paxton, news; Frank Praytor, editorials; Phyllis Anderson, socials; and Joe Cunniff, sports.

Dear to their hearts and near to their deadlines were such dependable contributors as Loretta Graves, news; Irvin Lande, editorials; Mary Benefield, features: Billy Reynolds, Lester Adams, music; Lillias Burns, Rosemary Hoene, clubs; Rowena Kidd, personals; Joy Sassaman, The Cellar; Kathleen Wilkins, religious news; and Raymona Brown, Beverly Haithcock, sports.

Praytor doubled as a columnist and his "Observations" became such a fixture that when he transferred it was carried on as "Impressions" by Bill Johnson. Jim Cleary's "Behind the Front Page", Mrs. Lassiter's "Reading Grab-Bag', and Norma Ham's "Music Mart" rounded out the regular columns. Every week Connie Puls found out "What's Up?" and the Photographic Department of Shugerman, Stewart and Weeks "got it". Typists Eunice Mitchell, Marie Burg, Betsy Templeton, Anne Lewis, Joyce Murdock, Ruth Harris, and Nora Ippolito refused to be discouraged by Cunniff's scrawl and the disappearance of the typewriter.

With all the copy in Jeff's jalopy, all roads led to the printer's on Thursdays. There were side trips for engravings, hamburgers, and malts with our favorite person, Duck Parsons. Friday we came out and by Saturday either fell out or drew up another assignment sheet. It's been fun.

JOHNNY JEFF

Johnny kept the books, drove the jalopy, made financial ends meet—and then some. Just how good this "then some" was, came out when the Hilltop News was able to declare Christmas bonuses. The Hilltop News was a financial success through Johnny's bookkeeping and ad-getting.

Looking backward over the past year, the choir, under the capable and inspiring direction of Raymond F. Anderson, sees a more active and eventful season than it has had in several years. More action meant more work; but more work meant more enjoyment; for the choir is filled with "music bugs", who just like to sing.

The Fall Quarter opened with work on selections for a concert at McCoy Church. Following this, preparations began for the trip to Tennessee. Everyone was excited, for during the war such trips were impossible. After countless rehearsals, "T Day" arrived and during the Thanksgiving Holidays, concerts were given in Florence, Decatur, Athens, and Huntsville, Alabama, and in Bellbuckle, Tennessee. Immediately after arrival back in Birmingham, the choir sang Christmas carols from the college float in the Christmas parade. Concerts in Bessemer and Leeds and a three-day Christmas Music Festival on the campus concluded the quarter's work.

The highlight of the year came in April when the choir left on its trip to Detroit. It was an honor to be invited to sing at the Biennial Convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs. En route, concerts were given in Harriman, Tennessee; Toledo, Ohio; and Louisville, Kentucky.

Finally in May the choir took a trip into the "Valley" to Roanoke, Alabama.

If, during the past year, you have seen a determined looking individual walking across the campus keeping step to strange notes, you need no longer be confused. It was merely another choir member struggling with the notes of some jumbled selection such as "Hatcher's Last Stand!"

CHOIR

The Choir sings at McCoy Church. In addition to its work here, the choir was one of the important supports for numerous activities on the campus. Ensemble groups were called upon to sing at Convocation and at other special programs.

In the Winter Quarter the Choir, in cooperation with the College Theatre, presented the Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta, "The Mikado."

Members of the Choir say goodbye to friends and relatives as they prepare to leave for their visit to "Yankee Land".

The STARLIGHT OPERA

Someone called up for tickets to "Milly Modest"... rehearsals dug deeply into slumbertime... a moth nearly ended a performance disastrously as it flew into the mouth of a lead singer... These things and many more will be remembered by the cast, crew, and audience of the Starlight Opera performances last summer of "Mademoiselle Modiste" and "Naughty Marietta."

Opposite is a group picture of some of the stars and crew members who contributed their best toward making the operas successful.

Theatre

Hardworkers all, the College Theatre's stage crew made every performance a success.

The Mikado was one of the highlights of the College Theatre's energetic 1946-47 season. Other successes included "Dangerous Corner" by J. B. Priestley, and Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine" with guest artist Mary Badham in the title role.

and MAY DAY

Below are four scenes from the gala event of the Spring quarter, May Day, which was held in the reign of King H. B. Norton and Queen Barbara Allen.

SADIE HAWKINS DAY

In November, Birmingham-Southern—professors and students alike—all came out in a big way for Sadie Hawkins Day. The annual affair this year hit an all time high. The veterans were back—and the girls were out to get them. The result: the grandest, most hilarious, and most successful merry mad capers in the history of the yearly event.

Sadie Hawkins Day is a yearly event to honor the mythical Sadie Hawkins whose father married her off by awarding her hand to the brave bachelor whom she caught in a free-for-all race. The race, football games, a picnic supper, a dance, and all the trimmings make Sadie Hawkins Day an important festival at 'Southern,

These few scenes show what went on at Birming-ham-Southern when the colorful and crazy costumes of Lil Abner, Daisy Mae, and Sadie Hawkins came to Munger Bowl.

CAT'S PAW

Pete Panther raised his paw, let out a hearty growl, and the eighth annual Catspaw was on. It was a riotous evening, with fact, fantasy, and faculty. The first group performance of the evening was the "Black and Tan Revue", followed by the musical interlude of the Independents entitled "With a Song". "Culture" and "Bloomer Boy" concluded the stunts—a full evening of je ne sais quoi.

THE SCENES ON THE RIGHT ARE:

- 1. "Miss Otis Regrets" heartrendingly presented by Mr. Hatcher and his chorus line.
- 2. "Bloomer Boy" was a "dahling" stunt—but no Hollywood scout signed up our budding performers.
- 3. The Feline Ridge Quadrupeds featured the vocal activities of Professors Glenn, Abernethy, and Sensabaugh.
- 4. "Culture" was a satire on Southern's cataclysmic registration days—it took first place.
- 5. A scene from "With a Song," presented by the Independents.

And below, C. M. Dendy, director for "Culture", the winning stunt, accepts the victor's plaque from Acting Student Body President Jack Conway.

Graduation came to Birmingham-Southern on June 7 in Munger Bowl. But before the Class of '47 received their diplomas, a round of affairs, including an Alumni dinner and a picnic, made their last week at Southern memorable. On this page you'll see a few scenes from these activities.

- Dr. Theodore H. Jack, President of Randolph-Macon College, gave the Commencement Address.
- 2. The Procession—as the students marched into Munger Bowl.
- 3. The graduating class patiently await their diplomas.
- 4. The Alumni Buffet supper—eats!
- 5. Louie Camp worked hard to make the Senior Picnic a success.
- 6. This isn't a kissing game, appearances notwithstanding!

Everyone was all wet at Camp Cosby.

The PROBLEM PAGE

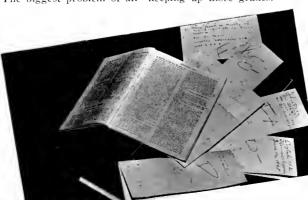

But everything didn't go smoothly at 'Southern this past year. There were a few rough spots like the road near Andrews Hall. As a legacy to the students who will be on the Hilltop in '47-'48 and on, we leave these assorted problems:

Have you seen your professor lately?

- 1. Those students who wouldn't show up for Accent pictures.
- 2. Classes were crowded—but not just at 'Southern.
- 3. How can students study?
- 4. That road!
- 5. The "Keep Off" sign wasn't there, but it should have been.
- 6. The parking problem was studied-but . . .

The biggest problem of all-keeping up those grades.

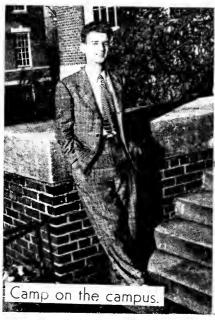

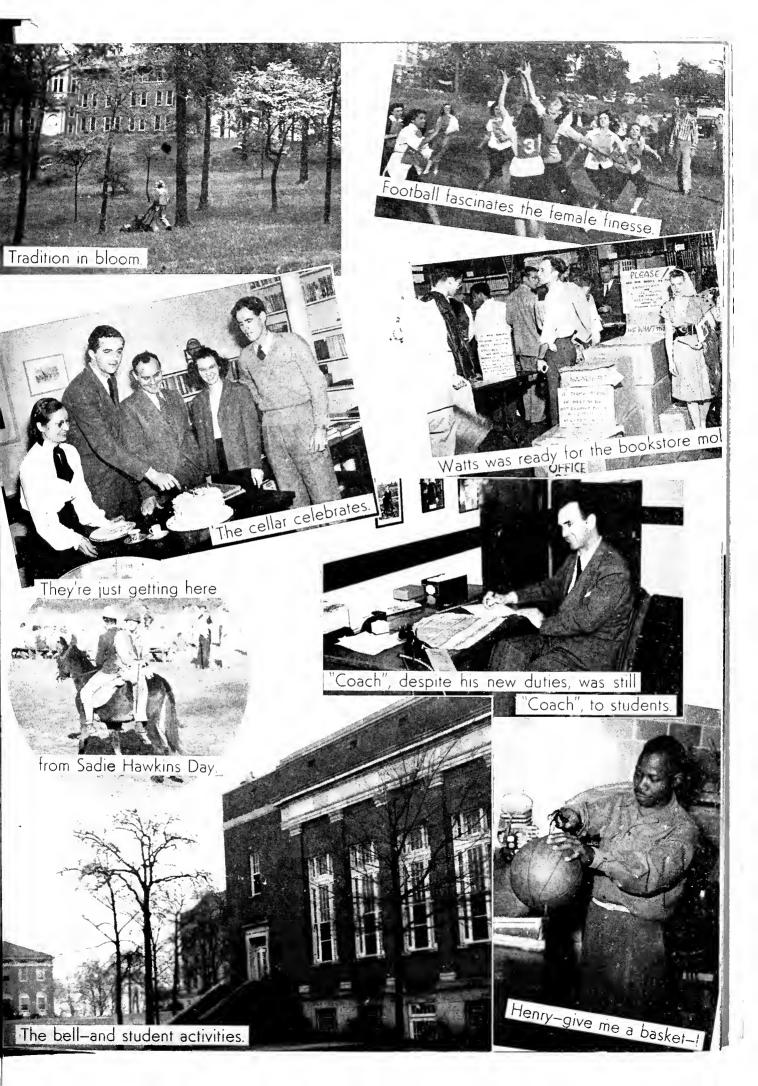

A Panther's Eye View of Birmingham-Southern

A visitor to Birmingham-Southern College first visits Munger Memorial Hall. As he enters, he tiptoes past the slightly cracked auditorium door so as not to disturb the hundreds of students knelt in the quiet reverence of Morning Watch service. The visitor thinks how wonderful it is that some of the men who were only a few months ago risking their lives on the bloody atolls of Iwo Jima, Kwajalein, Leyte, or Glocca Morra are now part of the great, pulsating mechanism for a new democracy, partaking of those things that will make them the worthwhile citizens of tomorrow.

Our visitor continues from here to the Registrar's office. He finds the Registrar, Miss Alice B. Toklas Pettibone, engaged in a fevered argument with sundry professors as to the arrangement of next quarter's schedule. The psychology instructor, Dr. Pavlov Paranoia, who is plaiting granny knots in the drapes, is agitating for three perfectly essential prerequisite courses for general psychology: The Influence of Freud on the Harmonic Convolutions of Debussy, the Influence of Freud on the Euclidean Geometric Principles, and the Influence of Freud on the Pin-Point Angels.

After filling out a brief questionnaire and removing his shoes at the entrance, our visitor now goes to the library. Miss Dewey Decimal acts as his personal guide, taking him to the stacks and pointing out the comfortable atmosphere in which the upperclassmen may study. Between the shelves hang censers in which heavy, pungent incense smolders. Guttering candles afford a dim, inspiring light. Cobwebby wine bottles rest on the lower shelves of the book ramps. Cold, damp gusts rise out of subterranean crevices somewhere. The visitor shudders with something like reverence as sallow, emaciated students glide past, carrying massive volumes under their arms. Then, they descend fourteen flights of stairs, past the stacks and four sub-basements where copies of "Redbook" and "True Story" are being bound, down a rope ladder, through a trapdoor, and down a stalagmited cavern to a covert room known as the Cellar. Here, the self-elected intelligentsia of the college is collected. Heads peer up from behind thousand-paged volumes to leer at the intruders through horn-rimmed glasses. They are deeply engrossed in Webster's Unabridged.

Our visitor blinks awhile, puts on his shoes, and directs his steps toward the cafeteria. He enters, and, since it is not yet the rush hour, he is hastily served in two hours. His wellbalanced lunch includes a borsch salad, escalloped mutton à la merde, creamed rutabagas, fried beets (Wilkes-Barre style), adulterated chickory, and candied plover eggs for dessert. Dined at last, he rubs his stomach in happy contemplation at the great show of fellowship and school spirit around him. Two fraternities are settling some playful argument and are throwing chairs to demonstrate their enthusiasm. Sororities are joining sides and throwing scalding coffee in the eyes of their opponents.

Chuckling at this robust demonstration, the visitor leaves and mounts the stairs to the College Theater, where a play is in rehearsal. It is "Joan of Migraine". Continuing his tour, the visitor goes to Ramsay Hall, where Dr. Al Chemy, recent discoverer of the philosopher's stone, offers to change the visitor's watch from its stainless steel to gold.

Now, proudly swinging his beautifully corroded watch on its chain, the visitor continues across the smoothly mown lawn to the gym-

Such enthusiasm! Such spirit! The visitor shakes his head and enters the gym. Spring training for football is underway on the enormous glassed-in football field with neon goal posts.

The visitor moves on up a flight of stairs into the din of the office of the college paper, "The Dirt Dauber." The chief editor, Ben Z. Drine, bids him a haggard welcome, and, at the same time, lashes at a score of proof-readers with a horsewhip.

Finding the other editors deep up to their necks in work—substituting student names in Walter Winchell's column—our visitor concludes his tour of the grounds.

Inspired by his brief but eventful visit, the guest hurries away, thankful for the part a liberal arts college plays in the American scene. Looking back once more, he sees Birmingham-Southern College dissolve in the dusk, and peace and silence descend with the darkness.

BEAUTIES

WESELECT THE Beauties

This year's crop of Southern Accent Beauties was harvested at the third annual Beauty Ball held in the College Gymnasium on December 6, 1946. A notable committee of authorities on feminine pulchritude selected the reigning Queen and her retinue of Beauties and Favorites. Miss Lillian Nabors was selected as Miss Southern Accent by this committee composed of Mr. Otto Blum, noted local photographer, Mr. Bill Saxon, well-known artist, Mrs. Roderick Beddow, Mrs. Buford Menafee, and Mr. Harry Schroeder, chairman. Miss Southern Accent and the other lovely ladies were presented to a capacity audience by their escorts while appropriate background music, "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody", was played.

The original thirty-two contestants were selected by fraternities, sororities, and other campus organizations. The winners presented on the following pages are, we feel, a selection of which Birmingham-Southern can take justifiable pride. Here, then, we give you Birmingham-Southern College's parade of 1947 Beauties as seen through the photographic eye of Mr. Charlie Preston. . . .

ALABAMA BETA BETA CHAPTER

The highlight of the 1946-47 season for ATO was the Statewide Conclave which was held in Birmingham last March. The ATO chapters from Auburn, the University, and Birmingham-Southern met for a week-end of gaiety and fellowship.

The ATO social calendar was dominated by parties, outings, and informal gatherings.

Bobby Bowen, class of '46, was awarded an ATO plaque acknowledging him for his noble service during his five years as an active member of the fraternity. Edgar Elliott was awarded an ATO key as the outstanding pledge of the Fall Quarter pledge class.

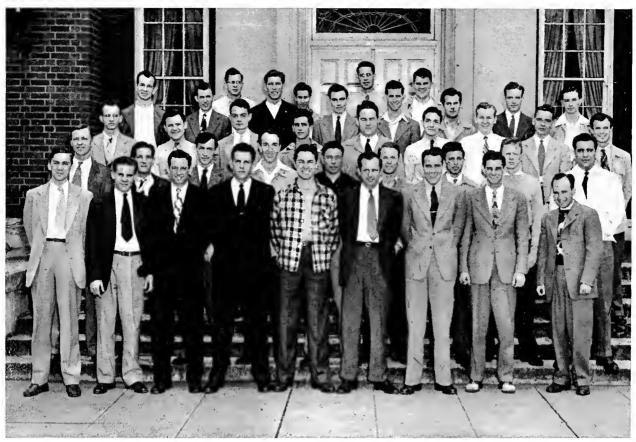

Brother Johnny Jeff was the president of the Interfraternity Council, member of the Honor Council, and business manager of the Hilltop News. C. M. Dendy reutrned from the service to "take up his niche in the millenium." He had the leading role in the fall production of the College Theater, and also one in the Birmingham Civic Theater production last winter. It was Brother Dendy who wrote the skit that took top honor at "Catspaw".

Calvin Lowery succeeded Brother Dick Fleming as "Mr. Hilltopper", making a two-year successive holding of the title for ATO boys; Vic Knox, our sole politician, was elected to the Executive Council; Fred Sherrill led the annual spring formal dance; Frank Praytor raved for two quarters on the editorial page of the Hilltop News; and Webb Roberts led the fraternity's softball team.

The facts show for themselves: ATO was extremely active for the 1946-'47 year!

BETA DELTA CHAPTER

The year 1946-47 has been one of the best the Delta Sigs have ever had. It has been a year full of fine socials, athletic activities, and academic honors gained. The second year of peace on earth has found the Delta Sigs prospering, and maintaining a high place among the Fraternities on the Hilltop.

Such high point men as Bob Van Asselt and J. D. Adkins helped their brothers to hold high, and often top scholastic honors among the other Fraternities. George Sintmons emerged from the chemistry lab long enough to be tapped by O.D.K. James "Moe" Thomas rode his mule to school Sadie Hawkins day. Moe played the nurse the night of Mr. Hilltopper, and Bob Hamilton was the cute litle bobby-soxer. Bob Ray put the Delta Sigs in second place in the summer baseball and was chosen all-star pitcher. Delta Sigs participated in all the other campus sports with a typical vigor that took them a long way. The Delta Sigs were prominent in other campus activities also, having representatives in just about every college group. President Jimmy Skilling took time off from his activities to attend the Delta Sigma Phi National Convention in Chicago.

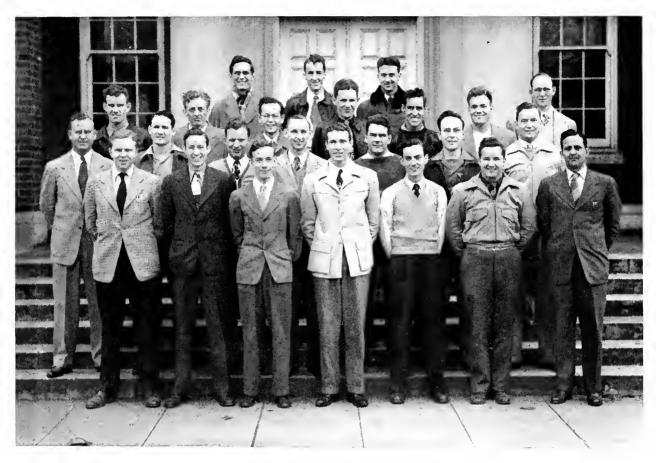

Professor of Spanish Hernández was initiated into the ranks of the Delta Sigs in '47, adding much to the chapter. Brother Hernández stepped into the office of Faculty Adviser soon after his initiation.

Social Chairman Tom Palmer saw to it that the Delta Sigs social life was not lacking. Highlighting the social year was the Annual Founders' Day Banquet on December 10. Delta Sig Dr. Hawk served as toastmaster for the evening, and the two speakers were Michael Prestera, Delta Sig District Deputy, and Delta Sig Roderick Beddow, prominent Birmingham attorney. The attendance of the chapter from the University added to the magnitude of the occasion. The Annual Spring Dance was one of the best of the year, with original decorations and attendance of both the Auburn and Alabama chapters.

Sports, socials, scholastic and extra-curricular activities all have added up to a great year for the Delta Sigs.

PHI CHAPTER

With all thoughts of war cast aside, the Knights of the Kappa Alpha Order have reclaimed their traveling sons and are found again excelling in all fields.

In the field of athletics the KAs have been most successful the summer quarter they won the softball crown, and during the rest of the year took the volleyball championship, free throw, ping pong, horseshoes, and handball. The fraternity championship in football was won by Kappa Alpha who went on to lose a 13-12 contest to the Independents. Taylor, M. Coates, and Bagley took places on the allstar football team. The KAs took first place in basketball and expect to do as well in softball and other sports during the spring quarter. On the varsity basketball team the KAs were represented by Tom Averitt and Bob Callahan.

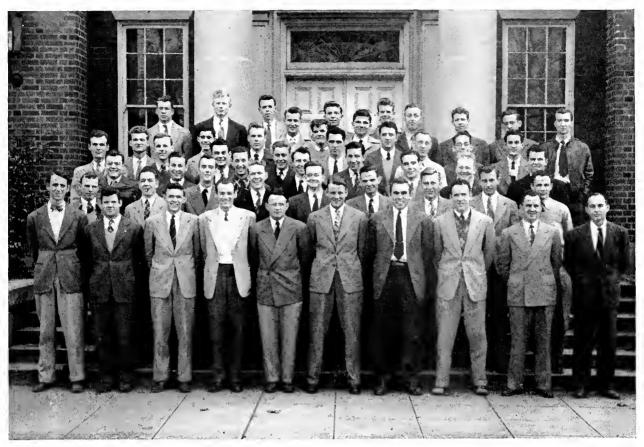

Members of the "Grand Old Gang" were to be found represented in many aspects of college life. Mentioning only a few we find the Executive Council taking great strides under Presidents Louie Camp and Hugh Locke, with members Jack Conway and Malcomb Coates assisting. Tim Conway presided over the Honor Council besides joining Hugh Locke, Jimmy Preston, Louie Camp, Doss Cleveland, and John Lumpkin in the local ODK circle.

Receiving the gavel from Frank Chappelle, John I. Lumpkin served as president of the chapter, while taking time out to acquire a Phi Beta Kappa key. Vice-President Peaches Taylor capably followed Bill Massey, and still had time for his full social calendar. Dean Coates was in charge of the minute books while Tim Conway tallied the accounts.

A full social season of gala gatherings extended the spirit of Kappa Alphaism to its guests, with parties at Camp Cosby, Highland Park, Roebuck, Woodward, and other sites. The height of the festivities was attained with the "Old Southern Ball", honoring the greatest of Southern gentlemen, Robert E. Lee. Kappa Alpha, the right hand to fellowship, the keynote of success, left an unforgettable year with the ringing notes of "Dixie".

THETA MU CHAPTER

"Home, Sweet Home" is the song the Lambda Chis are singing since they moved back into their house on Arkadelphia Road. And how can they help but be "one big, happy family" with a setup like this: Two sets of blood-brothers and a father-son combination. First there's John and Bill Outlaw, then Ed and Harvey Self; the circle was completed when they initiated Ford Jr.'s father, Commander MacElvain.

There are also Hugh and Bob Thompson, and Dick and Cecil Blanton—no relation, but it makes roll call just that much more confusing.

High activity-point man this season is "Padre" Gunnin. Poor M. L. had to stand in front of Stockham all day long the day the Southern Accent was taking pictures; he was in no less than eight of them.

The Lambda Chi social season got off to a flying start with a series of informal house dances. Most outstanding of these was the Halloween party when seventy-six guests crowded into the house along with an equal number of spooks and goblins.

And of course there were the two weddings to celebrate: John and Lee Outlaw's early in September, and Harvey and Betty Self's a few weeks later.

Topping the season was the annual Crescent dance on March 29. Guests attended from Lambda Chi chapters throughout the South.

DELTA CHAPTER

. . . 1947 proved to be an extremely active year for Pi Kappa Alpha which, like other Fraternities, has been expanding rapidly with the increasing enrollment of male students. During the year, the Pikes took a major part in every phase of activity on the Hilltop.

The Pikes inaugurated their year's activities with the Founders Day Banquet, at which alumnus, United States Senator John Sparkman, was the official speaker. The affair was attended by National President Roy Hickman and Mayor Cooper Green, a chapter alumnus.

Prexy Homer Ellis and brother Roy Hatley represented Upper Division men on the Executive Council. Brothers Argo, Fealy, and Hatley, all members of ODK, were again listed in Who's Who in American Colleges.

In the College Theater, Argo, Garrett, and Underwood have covered the technical side of productions and brother Argo, in addition, played one of the leads in Dangerous Corner. Pi K A's in the music department number so many that space will not permit listing of them, but Clyde Cook, Dick Hunter, Cleveland Hunt, Gordon Argo, and Sam Green had important parts in The Mikado. In the production Patience, brothers Tanner, Brittain, Fortson, and the Cook brothers had major roles. Pikes also had several leads in the Starlight Operas, and brother Ralph Tanner directed the winning group in Cat's Paw.

The Pikes had a good year in athletics. They had able representation in all sports, with the tennis and swimming teams coming out on top.

Bill Reynolds and Curt Shugart have spent much time in the Hilltop News office, and Jim Cleary has contributed a column for the same.

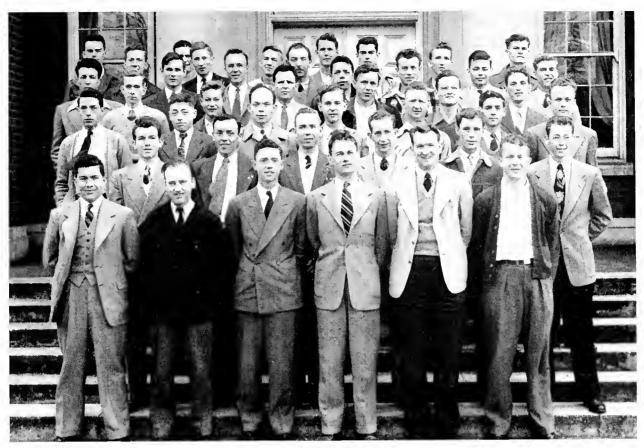

At the Pike houseparty at Camp Mary Munger there was much fun for all, and social activities, in general, have been marked by a high degree of success. The Pikes again set the precedent for Hilltop dances, in their novel handling of the problem of a leadout for so large a group.

During the tenure of office of ex-Prexy Al Parker, Delta Chapter celebrated its seventyfifth anniversary with a banquet and ball in the Thomas Jefferson.

Pi K A's now number more than seventy-five. The fellows on Pikes Peak, having completed a grand year, are looking forward to a year of even greater activity and more distinction for Pi Kappa Alpha.

Curt and the boys were caught on the way to class.

ALABAMA IOTA CHAPTER

The number of Sig Alph men dwindled considerably during the war in which Brother Ed Updike gave his life. The old white house on the hill back of the gym was sold to the college—so now Alabama Iota seeks a new home and hearth to continue its noted hospitality.

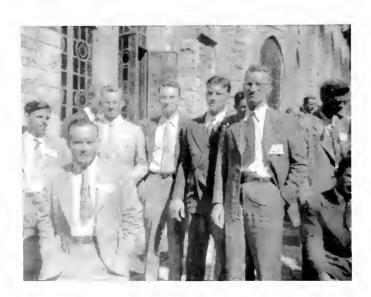

Early last year came the reactivation under the inspiring leadership of Duff "Termite" Leaver. Governed by George "Kew" Simpson, the chapter entered into campus life enthusiastically—led by "Foo-Foo" Foss, the pledging of thirty-two promising neophytes in Fall really woke up the Hilltop! Instilling that Phi Alpha vigor were returned members Trent, Stephenson, Reynolds and Norton.

Musically inclined lads like Snuggs, Akin and Jackson were led by O.D.K. man Hudson, president of the Choir and Baptist Student Union. Walking into wedlock went McClure and Myers. Other prexies were Scott of Pi Delta Psi and Foss of Interfraternity Council. Aiding the Honor Council was Elbert Norton; Hudson on the Executive Council carried off elections; also in campus politics were brothers Hooper and Shill.

A once-familiar sight on the campus—feminine sweaters sporting the purple and gold of SAE—was again evident. The minor crisis in Panhell saw "Long John" Underwood as unwitting chief instigator. Sleep an Eat parties became famous, especially those at Woodward; the annual Orchid Ball returned.

Guided by capable "Riggs" Stephenson, the chapter regained its traditional spirit of quality in quantity, as well the pledges learned!

'Southern's SAE's were wellrepresented.

BETA XI CHAPTER

The Theta Chi's have once again appeared in the line-up of leading Hilltop fraternities after a long period of quietness during the war. The year 1946 brought Theta Chi together again for it was the first year of reactivation. However, by now quantity has been added to quality and the boys are sharing the duties and activities of 1946-47 on the Hilltop.

Under the brilliant leadership of Gentry Martin and Farley Green, the Theta's have done well this past year in spite of their getting off to a slow start. Prexy Martin with the assistance of Bob Hildrith and Jack Mullins did a marvelous job of pledging during the summer. Starting with three actives, the Chapter has grown to a well-rounded organization. Rush Captain Jim Lusk assisted by Owen Sims was doubtless responsible for the rapid growth.

The new members have stepped right into the shoes of the old boys and are performing their duties miraculously. Led by Bob Hildrith the fraternity held up the league in intramural football competition. Under new leadership, including Leroy Whited, Bert Bradley, and with "sure shot" Adolph Crew, the boys undoubtedly held their own in basketball. With the athletic ability of Ralph Ivy the team put up some good games in volley ball.

The Theta Chis were represented in many phases of campus life. Kappa Phi Kappa has listed among its members Owen Sims, who does his best to keep up the scholastic record of the fraternity, assisted by Adolph Crew and Richard McLendon. The musical talent was exhibited the night of Cat's Paw by Anthony Adovino, who did the excellent "black-face" tap dance which brought many compliments from the audience.

The social calendar of the fraternity was crowded last Fall for the Theta's with hay rides to Camp Cosby, banquets at the Tutwiler, and parties at many of the night spots of the city. And, of course, the boys have reclaimed the distinction of having the first formal dance of the season. It was an old tradition of Theta Chi and former Beta Kappa to have this honor; however, during the war, it had to be suspended. But now the rightful place of the leader belongs to Theta Chi once again. The Annual was of a Christmas atmosphere and led by Bob Hildrith with Olys Kincaid. Due to the hard work of Johnny Rittenhouse, chairman of the dance committee, it was hailed as a big success by everyone.

Under the trusty leadership of the new President, Richard McLendon, with his genial personality, assisted by Jim Lusk, the fraternity will doubtless take its place once again as one of the leading fraternities of the Hilltop.

Yes! The year 1946-47 has been a good and active year for Theta Chi.

McLendon and Martin were caught in the sun.

ALPHA OMEGA CHAPTER

Guided by their motto "Together let us seek the heights", the Alpha Chis, under the leadership of Olys Kincaid, reached peaks in many phases of campus life. The following high-points were met and attained by these versatile girls: the Alpha Chis placed second in scholastic average among the sororities during the summer quarter; the Fall quarter saw eight new wearers of the scarlet and green pledge pin, witnessed the tapping of Marty Stinson and Mary Whitehead to Mortar Board, and found Ioan Prosch chosen as one of the Southern Accent beauties; the Spring quarter brought assorted new honors to Alpha Chi. At Cat's Paw, the traditional can-can made its first public appearance. Stinson, Capps, Prosch, Chesnutt, and Chandler brought down the house. Election Day the Executive Council welcomed Alpha Chi Marty Stinson and Martha Holley. During the Spring quarter Peggy Bonds represented BSC at the Linly Heflin Mardi Gras Ball.

Last, but certainly among the top events of the year was the annual leadout. The Alpha Chi Winter Wonderland was outstanding for its originality and beauty.

These were the major peaks; minor hills were also climbed.

Music claimed its share of Alpha Chis. Emily Wright was concert mistress of the orchestra, with Nelda Nall and Marydean Westbrook also playing. Connie Puls, Helen Chandler, Dot Griffis, Nelda Nall, and Bettye Wiltshire sang in the Choir, and Mu Alpha numbered among its members Mary Louise Coker, Helen Chandler, Betty Hood, and Dot Griffis.

The results of hard work showed up as the Hilltop News and the Southern Accent kept Aline Chesnutt, Connie Puls, Thelma Paxton, Helen Taylor, and Emily Wright hopping.

Language clubs on the campus would have been sadly lacking without the Alpha Chis. Mademoiselle Whitehead presided over Le Cercle Francais. Entre Amigos or the French club meetings were attended by Marjorie Parsons, Connie Puls, Alice Chesnutt, Dot Griffis, and Marty Stinson and Henrietta McClung.

Other clubs attended by prominent Alpha Chis are: Toreadors, Olys Kincaid and Johnnie Edwards; International Relations, Martha Holley and Joan Prosch; Amazons, Mary Louise Coker, Betty Hood, and Olys Kincaid; and Chi Sigma Phi, Aline Chesnutt, Mary Stinson, and Helen Chandler.

1947 was a good year for the Alpha Chis.

This is the Alpha Chi's picture? Isn't that Wright?

TAU DELTA CHAPTER

The AOPi-oneers who climbed the Hill in September '46, blazed a tall trail across the campus for the whole year.

Right after the big Sadie Hawkins Day man-hunt, we turned our attention to the sponsorship of Mr. Hilltopper for philanthropy's sake. Meanwhile, Betty Orcutt rehearsed her big line "I'm a woman", for Dangerous Corner.

The Christmas Dance set our Yuletide scene with Gordon Argo Claus presiding over the Christmas tree piled high with lethal water pistols, deafening noisemakers, and zany hats.

Cat's Paw was next on our Big Event Calendar. We still maintain that we deserved a citation for all that dark grease paint we wore.

Our renditions of "Summertime" and our favorite sorority ditty made their successful debuts as we won the Inter-fraternity Sing cup.

Our interminable bridge, chatter, and platter sessions in the sorority room were halted for cheers many times. For instance, we cheered when our teams brought home the basketball cup, the golf cup, and a second place in swimming, when Ruth Harris and Elsa Allgood made All-Star teams, when Betty Hawkins, able Hilltop News editor-in-chief and Mortar Board member, was among high-point women in sports; when Elsa was tapped by Mortar Board.

Oh's and ah's were inevitable when our Rose Ball, led by President Ruth Sherrod was a success, and when new fraternity pins, or traditional diamonds, made appearances on Mary Nell, Jean Collins, President-elect "Fratzee" Jones, Elsa Allgood, Merlee Sears, Carol Cheney, Betty Hawkins, et al.

Other parties, Bookstore sessions, glee club trips, and campus politics took their share of time.

Classes? Once in a while we attended those, too!

Clean-up time—and everyone was hard at work.

ALPHA RHO CHAPTER

This was the year of the first Gamma Phi Convention since 1940. Alpha Rho was represented by prexy Mary Claude Sellers who really enjoyed the ever-changing scenery of the White Mountains in New Hampshire. Not to be outdone, Jane Rhodes took a jaunt to New York and Dot Vann decided to have a look at the scenery in Washington State.

Down at the Conservatory could be heard Elizabeth Jones, Lola Sue Johnson, and Margaret Terry—displaying their talents on the black and white keys.

Nan Davis added her giggle to the many bridge games played up in the sorority room with Doty Bell, Betty Henckell, and Katherine Thomas. Doty Bell was initiated into Theta Chi Delta this year and Katherine Thomas, the ever-patient treasurer of the sorority and a member of Chi Nu Tau, kept reminding Nellie Ruth Hardin of the "money troubles" which one had in keeping up with thirty girls' dues.

The most outstanding honor of the year was the election of Jane Rhodes and Juanita Bedingfield to Phi Beta Kappa. Jane also entered into Alpha Lambda Delta and Theta Sigma Lambda. Juanita spent her time with Sylvia Beal in Biology lab with the cats. It's a pity those pelts had to be feline.

During the Mardi Gras, Rita Burnside and Lola Sue journeyed home with Bettye Dunn to have a look at New Orleans. Mary Gene ("Sally") Gammon and Kathryn Kleine stayed at Montevallo a few days to find out the whys and wherefores of basketball. This trip definitely appealed to Mary Gene, who was the main inspiration of the Gamma Phi basketball team. Dottie Doerr took time out for a trip to Auburn where fun was had by all.

Vice-prexy Laura Acton was responsible for the wonderful Valentine dinner-dance, and Frances Henckell made a distinguished waiter at the "Crescent Club" rush party. Beulah Crabtree's car was many times a life-saver. Lila Mae Stacey, Carol Latham, Nancy Anne Stone, and Betsy Templeton were always underfoot, but it was a real pleasure to have them around. Louise Blackwell wished many times that the frog she had to mutilate in Biology lab had not been stupid enough to be caught, and Betty Casey wished that chemistry labs had not been invented. Lottie Turner and Kitty Gray decided on a vacation after the Fall quarter, so Lottie left to work in Nashville and Kitty just "loafed".

Things to remember were the popular suppers in the room, the get-togethers at the Miami Club, the dinner-dance, and the annual Carnation Ball in the spring—it was a wonderful year!

Greek or otherwise, the campus was the common destination.

There were many happenings. christened the new floor in the auditorium of the Student Activities Building with a Christmas tea dance, which they traditionalized on the spot. The new generation got initiated. That was Raymona and Peggy Rountree and the other Owen girl. It was also Leona Lowery, Elizabeth Wall, and Jo Ann Smith. And it was Carol Anne Smith, who led the KA dance. Ruth Jennings got her own radio program and Lil got into the race for Miss Cotton. Mandy Smith received the privileges of wearing a wedding ring and the Phi Beta Kappa kev all in the same month and Josie Ogletree and Barbara Brent were also among the Phi Beta Kappa key wearers. Jane Hutchins joined Mortar Board, Barbara Allen wore the queen's crown on May Day, and Lil Nabor's picture graces this annual as Miss Southern Accent.

A little boy over in the crippled children's clinic had a better Christmas and Easter because of what Carol Anne Smith did with the fund the KD's gave for the purpose of making him know better what Christmas and Easter should really be like for little boys.

Raymona got to be the main means of communication between the Hilltop News Office and the girls' intramural program and Benefield served the same purpose for the Music and Dramatic departments. Emily Lindsey, Leona Lowery, and Murkie planned their weddings.

There was another white rose ball and another frenzied period of making white paper roses and swearing off of them forever. Some more luggage racks were sent out for wedding presents.

Well, well, well! A very good time was had by all.

ALABAMA IOTA CHAPTER

Guided by Christine Elliott, the Pi Phi arrow reached new heights this year. Pi Phis took pride in following a prexy who, besides being in the Beauty Parade, was also president of Pan Hellenic, elected to Phi Beta Kappa, valedictorian of the senior class, and graduated magna cum laude.

Barbara Mullins, another Phi Bete and magna cum laude, conducted two very successful rush seasons, being most in her element at the "cigareet rollin" and the "shootin' iron" contests at the ranch parties.

The ten new members pledged in the Fall plunged immediately into campus activities. Maude, Edith, Nancy, Bettye, Frances, and Edna Earle were elected to the Y. W. C. A. freshman commission, of which Maude was the president. Amelia took title honors on Sadie Hawkins Day, making the fourth consecutive year for the Pi Phis. She later sparked the swimming team to victory and captured a medal for herself. While Miriam rallied the team with her "Ho-ho" Sarah discovered a new way to make batters strike out and only got batted herself once.

Five members of the active chapter, Betty Barnes, Jeanne Inscho, Polly Price, Mildred Thompson, and Virginia Venable, gave changes of name and address to the secretary.

The honorary societies welcomed Pi Phis into all departments. Martelle made Chi Nu Tau; Phyllis, K. D. E.; Sue, Phi Sigma Iota; Betty Hollis, Theta Sigma Lambda. Mortar Board's two tappings added four Pi Phis to the roll—Phyllis Anderson, Betty Hollis, Anne Lewis, and Sue McNamee.

The Beauty Dance in the Fall gave Ann Newell a full page in the beauty section . . . Jane, Naomi, Claradel, Helen, and Ann Mc-Phail all overcame a slight tendency to dash home when classes were over—at least during the weeks when Marilyn had everybody cutting out red paper hearts for the dance . . . The traditional Easter Tea was a bigger success than ever and the Pi Phis occasionally left the receiving line to be photographed from every angle by Buford and Mr. Walston.

Spring rushing brought the Pi Phis three new Anns—Smith, Cochran, and Fowler—bringing the present count to six. It also brought Bitsey Lokey.

The May Court contained two Pi Phi princesses, Bettye and Sue, and innumerable workers on the production end.

Pi Phis noticed with pleasure the enthusiasm of its new members for all intramural sports. With such veteran athletes as Henrietta Martin and Betty Lee Martin, Anne Lewis, and Betty Hollis on its teams, Pi Phi managed to place one or two all stars in volleyball, basketball, and softball.

The "angels-in-disguise", having raised their sights this year, are looking for newer and better targets for the next.

Action in the gym—this looks like a prety good shot!

Theta U's, under the able leadership of Jean Shannon, kept up social activities at a furious pace this year. Hamburger frys, "hen" parties, informal parties in the chapter suite, and other miscellaneous parties kept the gals in a whirl between class-hours. Brightest spot on the agenda was the sorority's formal banquet, complete with formal and flowers at the Tutwiler Hotel, celebrating Founder's Day.

On weekends, Thetas got together with their "sisters" at Auburn and the University, attending formal dances given by these chapters.

Hailing from Cuba, blonde-haired Marjorie Kirby "kept up the grades". Betty Jo Mann and Jean Gilmer added to the 'Southern spirit by belonging to various campus organizations. Pledge Julia Ann Gilmer could be found singing with the choir, speaking French with Dr. Constans in the college cafeteria, dishing out food at school parties, dating "frat" men for social functions, in dance leadouts, or most anywhere that fun prevailed. All-in-all, it was a gay year for the Theta sisters, despite their small number.

Sorry, girls, didn't mean to interrupt your conversation.

The "Zetas" really had "The Spirit" this year. We started off by winning the 1946 scholarship cup; then, led by Sal Brobston, our Sports manager, we won the tennis cup, tied for first place in volleyball, were second in basketball and badminton, and won the ping pong championship.

We pranced in fraternity leadouts, went "choiring" to Detroit and knocked ourselves out in "Catspaw", Sadie Hawkins Day, Starlight Operas, and the Mikado. Marguarite Kent had the lead in the College production of Dangerous Corner, and "Roco" and "Pedigo" danced in the May Day Ballet.

Ruth Virginia Anderson, our President, was chairman of the Interfraternity Sing; and Mary Leta English, Vice-President, made the All Star Basketball and Volleyball teams, was a Princess in the May Court, and is Assistant Manager of the Intramural Sports program.

Suzan Adams, secretary, was also a May Day princess, and Marjorie Renegar, a member of Kappa Delta Epsilon, and Theta Sigma Lambda, and is on the staff of the Accent.

There are Zetas wearing Mortar Board pins, and attending "Amazon" meetings. Rose Mary Hoene is Treasurer of Entre Amigos, and Jane Hutto is President of Alpha Lambda Delta, secretary of Les Cercle Francais, and a former member of the Executive Council. Bess Shepherd, who is a member of the Freshman Commission, has been elected to the Executive Council. Ruth Lee Martin is President of Red Cross and Vice President of YWCA. We were glad to hear that "Jo" Miller and Anne Ellis were in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

"Jo" Miller was Chairman of the annual Beauty Pageant. There were nine Zetas chosen for this leadout, four of whom—Dot Burford, "Roco" Timerlake, Beth Howell, and Marguarite Kent—were chosen as "favorites".

Four of the eight May Day Princesses wore the shield, while Jean Franke, Betty Mc-Cracken, Dot Burford, and Doris Miller proved they were typical Zeta Tau Alphas by getting their Zeta Tau men.

Everyone waited for the bus, and eventually it got there.

In MEMORIAM

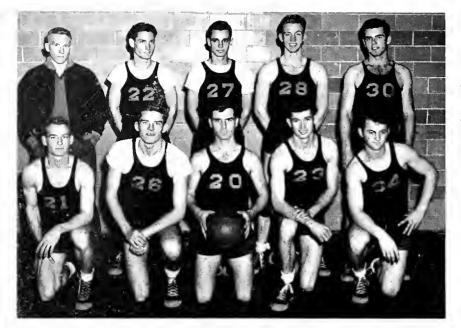

When Mrs. William H. Stockham passed away on December 31, 1946, at the age of 83, Birmingham mourned the loss of one of its most inspiring persons. For through Mrs. Stockham's philanthropic and executive contributions to Birmingham she had become one of the city's most useful and respected citizens

Birmingham-Southern College, especially, mourned the loss of Mrs. Stockham. In the life of the college she had always taken an active part, serving as a trustee, as chairman of the Board, and as a member of the Executive Committee for many years. Her confidence in Birmingham-Southern and her trust in the youth of America can easily be seen in Stockham's Woman Building on the campus, which Mrs. Stockham had erected to the memory of her husband.

Moreover, besides her material gifts to the college, Mrs. Stockham contributed greatly to the progress of the school through her wise counsel, her leadership, and her friendship. And, "although Mrs. Stockham has gone from our sight, she has not gone from our midst. She has left so much of herself in every good cause within the community. Her genuine goodness of heart has conferred immortality on the causes for which she stood. Thus a tender and devoted soul builds its own monument more enduring than marble."

Second row—Charles Ethridge, Leonard Pike, Richard Dominick, G. C. Chambers, Bob Callahan

CAPTAIN JACK GILMORE—an inspiring leader, great competitor, and natural basketball player. Jack was a 60-minute man every hour the Panthers performed. One of the best set shot artists in Dixie, Gilmore opened up many a tight defense with his long range shooting.

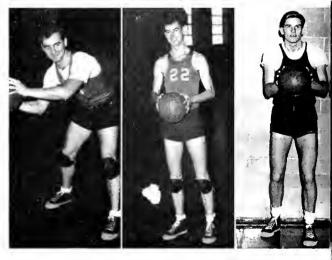

JERRY OXFORD—runner-up in the high scoring position on the Panther machine was Buddy Oxford, pivot man. A 6'3" bundle of cool, calm complacency "Bouncing Buddy" highlighted many an evening's performance with twenty or more points through the bucket.

TOM AVIRETT—a hold-over from pre-war basketball, Tommy really came into his own under the revivified Panther regime. A crack shot, with a dead eye from the corner, Tom turned the tide steadily Southernward as his 169 points testify.

Oxford shooting—2 points Southern; the place, City Auditorium; the opposition, Howard College; the result, Howard 55—Southern 51. What a second half the Panthers played, and how the fans loved this terrific CAT and DOG fight!

BASKETBALL at SOUTHERN

The 1946-47 Southern Panther, after several seasons of idleness, came roaring back into the inter-collegiate picture to register an impressive 7-7 record. The Gold and Black color of B. S. C., tinged with olive drab, gained much respect on the hardwood as the proteges of Coach Bill Battle displayed their wares convincingly.

Captain Jack Gilmore, Jerry Oxford and Tom Avirett

Southern Exposure—Key (18) of the Bulldogs is trying to open the door to the Panther goal in the second meeting of Howard and Southern played at the Hilltop Gym. Guardian angls Avirett (28) and Edwards (10) say "thou shalt not pass or shoot". Denham (14) of the Bulldogs is the in-between man. Howard won the ball game 45-35 to square the series, Southern having come out victoriously 37-35 in the season's opener.

PAT UPTON, at left, of the Panther Independents, swished 43 out of 50 free throws through the netting to take top honors in that event. Pat also won a berth on the Intramural Men's All-Star basketball team to prove that he's as good a team man as individual performer.

Peaches Taylor, Second row—Tim Conway, Hal Stallings, Tom Avirett, Fred Kimbrongh, Doss Cleveland, Kappa Alpha beat Kappa Alpha for the school honors in the volley ball league. Yes, that's right, the K. A. "A's" defeated the K. A. "B's" in the two league playoff to maintain an unleaten record throughout season and tourney play.

KAPPA ALPHA SCORES AGAIN.

Middle picture—This is Doss Cleveland of Kappa Alpha and not a ringer as many of Doss' opponents proclaimed in the I. M. horseshee tournament. Although Doss did lean heavily on ringers to gain first place in the meet.

Right picture—Johnny Bowen, of the Rams, made a clear sweep of the Badminton Court as he lightly waltzed through all opposition to gain top honors. "Keep your eye on the birdie is the first thing to learn in mastering the game says "Big Jawn".

Left picture-The ATO's and Ensley at long range. But the Frat boys shortened their sights and choked up on their bats to punch out a 6-2 win over the Independents thus creating a two-way tie for second.

Middle picture-Fred Blackmon, on the mound for KA in the Southern-Howard I. M. Championship Clash, is all up in the air over something. Third Baseman Tutwiler and Shortstop Stallings are flanking Freddie's move.

Right picture—You're out! Whoever you are? It's the KA-Howard game and Coach Hamilton "ain't" getting much business. No, that's not one of the temporary science buildings in the right foreground, that is Base Umpire Conniff.

Aw, come on Coach, can't you throw your chest out a little more? This is going into the ACCENT. We know it's the half and Howard is ahead, but, gosh, this is September and that was January.

How did this get in here? Who carcs? Now we are perplexed. We used to think football was our favorite sport but this intramural sun bathing has its appeal. The girls are unknown, darn it!

PORTS

Top right picture—I. M. Track Champs—The fastest thing afoot on the Hilltop were the ATO's who "ran" away with the track meet—landing a first in every track event. The smiling-Mercury's are first row—Blair Cox, Bill Phillips, Art Sharbel, Ed Elliott, Parker Hopping. Second row—Bill Horton, Butch Edwards, Webb Roberts, Bill Franke, Booty Jennings.

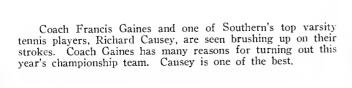

Left picture—The 100-yard Dash—Art Sharbel, of ATO, breaks the tape in the 100 closely followed by Logan, Ensley, Dominick, KA, and Snow. Theta Chi. This was the first event on the program and the beginning of the end for all except Alpha Tau Omega which never relinquished its early lead.

Middle picture—The 440 Finish—Billy Phillips, ATO, comes home in a run, or would you call it a walk-away? Bill set the pace all the way. No telling what he would have done if someone had pushed him.

Right picture—Daly does it. Mike Daly, SAE, is over the top with plenty to spare in the pole vault. Mike left all opposition at the 9' mark and if he hadn't been forced down for "low ceiling" he might have jumped clear over the moon.

The ATOmic flash, Sir Arthur Sharbel, Knight Swift of the Roundtable. Art led all track competitors by a handsome margin.

The Ram Independents, boasting a whole galaxy of fermer Ramsay Hi stars, ran and passed their way goalward sufficient to defeat all opposition on the Hilltop. Ably coached by Ed Bearden, the Rams were as offensively minded as Notre Dame and as sure as the V. A. Pension Board on defense.

Top right--Charley Hamilton back for the Cubs; the pass was good for five yards in the K. A. Cub clash, won by Kappa Alpha, 13-0. Those two substitutes on the far side are P1 Phr's Lewis and Anderson, plenty capable of being regulars in most schools over the country.

Lower right—Frank "Baldy" Flemming, Ram left halfback, is seen operating the "giant non-union score board" everlooking huge Munger Stadium. According to Frankie it's just about time to start the second quarter—Ensley's ball, the shift's to the left, Oxford and Hopping back . . .

TENNIS

The Varsity Tennis Team—The net total of these collegiate champs was six wins and one loss. Who'll ever forget the Maxwell Field-Southern clash when the Colonels and Cats collided in the court-clash of the century?

SPORTS of the

The swimming meet ended in a 34-point triumph for the Pi Beta Phis. The AOPi's were second with 29 points. High point woman was Betty Clem with 18, second Amelia Dabney with 16. The 50-yard dash was won by Dabney; the side stroke for form by Nabors; racing backstroke went to Price; Australian crawl, breaststroke, and Elementary Backstroke for form went to Clem. The plunge and dogpaddle race were won by Patsy Collins. Ann Ellis was the best water treader and E. Chapple the champion of the waterniclon float. Dabney, Hughes, and Nabors shared diving honors. Mary Leta English was swimming manager.

Under the leadership of Senior Manager Ann Ellis and Associate Manager Lil Nabors, B. S. C.'s sports calvacade displayed some of the most closely contested team and individual battles in the history of her intramural program.

Came the ever famed volleyball tournament, the first upset coming at the hands of the Gamma Phi's, who thumped the top-seeded Kappa Deltas to the tune of 43-36. However, the KDs were soon back in the race by ousting the undefeated Independents 37-31, leaving Captain English's ZTA's the only un-marred nine of the tournament, until the Independents came back to trim them by a 43-17 margin. The final game pairing KD against ZTA ended in a 45-29 triumph for the latter and gave them a first place berth shared with the Independents. The playoff for the trophy ended Ind. 45 ZTA 27. Members of the allstar volleyball team were as follows: P. Collins, Nabors, English, Ellis, Stone, Hollis, Lewis, Whetstone and Hughes. Volleyball Manager was Betty Barnes Hollis.

With the coming of winter all eyes turned toward the hardwood, where the Pi Phis brushed past the Gamma Phis in the season's opener 21-20. The most significant game of the earlier part of play from the standpoint of final ratings was the one in which the powerful AOPi's trounced last year's unblemished Independents 17-11. Again the Independents crushed the Zeta's hope for an undefeated season by edging them out in the last 30 seconds of play 17-15. The ZTAs were later conquered by the AOPI's. It was the Gamma Phis for the second time who caused the season's most sensational setback. With regulars Allgood and Shores benched with sprained ankles the AOPI's could but come within three points of Nan Davis' squad, the contest terminating in a 15-12 win for Gamma Phi. This game made it necessary for a playoff between the AOPI's and Independents, the cup and championship going to Rete Erwin's AOPI's who came back in the final quarter to gain a 16-13 victory over their opponents. Ruth Harris' five foul shots without a miss plus a last-minute field goal by Allgood were the deciding issues. The all-star basketball team was made up of Allgood, Harris, Fuller, English, Lewis and Hughes.

The Independents with a heavy offensive attack succeeded in winning six games without a loss to claim the softball cup. The Pi Phis who came in a close second had unequaled team coordination which reaped the rewards of a five-day-a-week practice session. The AOPI's also boasted of a steady ball club which gave both above-mentioned teams plenty of hard competition. Softball all-stars include F. Martin, H. Martin, Haithcock, Gammon, Baker, Gulledge, Poole, Hawkins and Hughes. Pat Brittain was softball manager.

Tennis singles was won by Hughes, second place going to Nabors. Semi-finalists were Ruth Lee Martin and Stone.

The victory cup went to the Independents. High point women were as follows: Hughes, Stone, E. Williams, McDonald, Brittain, Gulledge, P. Collins, B. L. Williams, Allgood and Flis

Many thanks are due Miss Elizabeth Lewis who did a splendid job of heading up the program.

Right picture—Pingpong as a team championship also went to the Independents, but the Zeta's Betty Underwood succeeded in defeating Betty Lou Williams to become B. S. C.'s new champ.

Center picture—Out after a swim—to keep in practice. Betty Clem was high point woman in the swimming meet.

PETE PANTHER GROWLS AGAIN

... Or the Reappearance of Collegiate Basketball at Birmingham-Southern

The Era of Sports after World War II promises to eclipse all previous standards in regard to records, attendance, and keen competition.

In these turbulent times when "atomic atmosphere" has permeated every line of endeavor be it military, industrial, academic, athletic, or what have you, it is only fitting that little Suburb U. will rise to Rooseveltian grandeur to slap down invincible Notre Dame or accumulated Army.

Likewise, small schools to the four corners of the land we call America are turning out "giant-killers." Some for the first time are feeling the thrill of 'Rah, Rah, Whizem Tech' as Johnny Jones gallops 110 yards through Pereless Normal, or Sad Sam Smith loops 43 points and Veteran U. knocks Siwash from the ranks of unbeaten basketball teams. Others are rechartering old thrills and in this category we shall settle down for our story.

In 1939 a weary, worn Cat fatigued from continuous exposure and improper backing laid down his combative armor and crawled into the Cave of Good Sleep. For six years he slept—1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945—and was not in the least perturbed by draft notices or atomic bombs. At times he had visions—occasionally flashed in his mind as if some one was imitating him, even setting up an image and telling the "Young Gods of Hellas" to sacrifice and adore at the de-emphasized altar of intramural sports—but he was tired and still he slept.

In the year 1946 A.D. many young men fresh from Navy Blue, Army Tan, and Marine Green returned home. They had won a war and they realized to win the peace they must continue to fight. And education was the Depot where the right kind of ammunition was stored to gain the objective.

At the same time that these young men with their flight jackets, combat boots, and dungarees were adding a new touch to campus life, Ol' Pete was becoming more and more restless. Goggy Gremlin, who really wanted the Cave for his family to live in, was whispering in his ear that he had a new job to do. "How can you lie here when they need you so?"

It was a December day on the Hilltop and life was functioning in a normal manner when suddenly a giant olive drab shadow appeared. It swept over the Bowl and rose to the tip top of Munger. A young freshman was heard to exclaim, "What a giant of a beast!"

Flexing his muscles, swishing his tail, and stifling several yawns, Pete was off on the run for the new Gymnasium. Never had he seen such a beautiful place. Through the front door he went fervidly trying to recollect—and then he heard it and then he knew. The sweet sound of a basketball houncing on the hardwood. For six long years . . . Up the stairs he went, grabbed a ball from one of the girls' physical ed classes and figuratively "burned the bottom out of the baskets".

By this time the Gym was full and lines were quequed outside. Some thought it was registration day. Others heard they were giving five quality points with each bottle of milk sold at the milk bar. While many didn't care—they just wanted to line up and complain about something.

Betty Hawkins was there asking Pete a hundred "newsy" questions while Bob Weeks and David Shugerman were fighting in the H.T.N. office for the only flash bulb left. Joe Cunniff was in the library—asleep. Coach Bill Battle was measuring Pete and Henry was checking sizes like a G.I. getting clothes back from an army laundry.

That night a secret meeting of "influentials" was called. It was decided that to have so much talent in school and not avail themselves of it was treason. Worse than that—it was ridiculous. So the order went through "COURT-A-BASKETBALL-TEAM!"

And that's the story of Peter Panther—REX OMNIBUS—Long live the King!

JOE CUNNIFF.

ORGANIZATIONS

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa, the highest honor given to collegiate scholarship, was this year conferred upon eleven students at Birmingham-Southern College. The top-ranking students of the graduating class were Juanita Reed Bedingfield, Allyne Moon Bolen, Barbara Mason Brent, Christine Elliott, Ruth Irene Hendricks, John Irvin Lumpkin, Barbara Mullins, Betty Jo Ogletree, Jane Lockett Rhodes, George Allen Simmons, and Anne Noble Smith. The honor, usually given to the upper tenth of the graduating class, is based upon grade average over the four-year college course.

Phi Beta Kappa is this year celebrating its tenth anniversary on the 'Southern campus, having elected its first six student members in 1937. Today the Beta Chapter at 'Southern is one of only two in the State of Alabama. President of the local chapter is Dr. Antony Constans, while Dr. Alan T. Wager serves as Vice-President, and Miss Evelyn Wiley as Secretary-Treasurer.

Birmingham-Southern's Kappa Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa was the tenth Circle to be instituted at a college in the United States. 'Southern's membership dates from March 22, 1924.

The organization strives to bring together the most representative men in all phases of campus life and to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities. Each year, ODK taps men made eligible for the honor by their interest, activity, and achievement in scholarship, athletics, social and religious affairs, publications, and speech, music, and dramatic arts.

Too late for the above picture but in time to sport their white carnations at Spring tapping were Tom Avirett, Blair Cox, Bob Dorrough, Elvin Edgar, Winfred Godwin, Fred Kimbrough, Irvin Lande, and George Taylor.

Besides serving 'Southern by recognizing scholarship and leadership, ODK each year publishes a very much-needed student directory.

MORTAR BOARD

Three years ago, a group of freshman women looked on as Mortar Board tapped its new members. Year-by-year, these women watched other women being tapped. But they didn't just bide their time. They achieved success in scholarship and in campus leadership. And, finally, this year when the scroll came down, some of those who had watchfully waited found themselves in the selected ranks of those chosen for Mortar Board, national honorary fraternity for upper division women.

Besides rendering great service to the college by being an inspiration to collegiate women, Mortar Board on the 'Southern campus also has been an active, working group. Its many other services have been overshadowed, of course, by the notoriety of Be Kind to Professors' Day.

Endeavoring to promote a deeper understanding and a higher idea of education, Kappa Delta Epsilon yearly produces programs of great intellectual interest for the women who belong to it. Being an honorary educational organization for women, Kappa Delta Epsilon tries, through speakers, debates, and social gatherings, to advance the cause of education in the minds of all college students and especially in the hearts of those who will be school teachers in the future.

In striving after its goal, Kappa Delta Epsilon at Birmingham-Southern has made commendable progress.

Many students, bounding down the stairs of Munger, have noticed the posters advertising the next meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa. Thus, even a casual student will testify to the activity of this educational organization for men.

Established to honor and inspire future leaders in the educational world, Kappa Phi Kappa has become an important medium for the dissemination of educational thought among male college students.

But to keep their balance, this active Hilltop organization had their parties, their Greensboro room suppers, and their social gatherings. If the future of education may be judged by the success of Kappa Phi Kappa on the Hilltop, then the future is indeed bright.

To the large number of 'Southern students who have chosen chemistry as a study and as a profession, Theta Chi Delta has meant a great deal. It has given them an outlet for scientific discussion among their fellow students, an opportunity for hearing lectures on chemistry, and a chance for friendly gatherings among friends of a mutual interest.

Their interest in their field has, of course, been heightened by atomic energy, its implications and possibilities. And the interest of the rest of the Hilltop in atomic energy has brought new respect and attention to the members of Theta Chi Delta. Yes, Theta Chi Delta has had a good year!

But the importance of mathematics in chemistry, physics, biology, and, of course, math class, could not be held down. So, this year, too, shiny new Theta Sigma Lambda keys went to the deserving students who could master the intricacies of Calculus and Vector Analysis and the concomitant evils.

It all wound up, therefore, to be a very profitable year for the students who went to Theta Sigma Lambda meetings. They heard discussions on important new mathematics developments, added their own ideas, and enjoyed the fellowship.

Interest in the classics has always been one of the bases for man's knowledge. Today, surely as much as in the Renaissance, classical study has been eagerly pursued. Man has been looking for the key to his problems in the understanding of the ages.

Colleges have not ignored the importance of that study. And Birmingham-Southern, with its Pi Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for students of the classics, has maintained a high level of interest in classical learning.

Eta Sigma Phi at 'Southern, however, though devoted to serious study and earnest endeavor, added a touch of friendship and social cordiality in its interesting and profitable meetings.

Founded in 1941 at Birmingham-Southern, Chi Nu Tau is an organization composed of biology-minded Hilltoppers. Not content with the terrible taxonomy of their biology books or the fuming formaldehyde of their learned laboratories, these undergraduate scientists have to devote their extra hours to discussing various methods of removing assorted parts from various animals, of improving scientific analyses, or of concocting new names for familiar phenomena.

But lest that sound unfair to Chi Nu Tau's able and energetic members, it must be mentioned that they acquired through their meetings new knowledge of specialized biological fields, new understanding of problems in biology, and friendly association for constructive work.

Before this year, on every other Thursday, Mu Alpha had been making post-war plans. This year those plans have been realized.

During the Fall quarter, Mu Alpha sponsored an invitation recital presented by five of the faculty members: Dot Cox, Dr. Reynolds, Von Herman, Stephen Dill, and Martha McClung. After the recital a formal reception was given in Stockham Building. The recital and reception were attended by many and proved to be a big event in the history of Mu Alpha.

In the Spring Quarter a student recital by members of Mu Alpha was given.

This year saw the entrance into Mu Alpha's membership of Patrice Munsel, 20-year-old Metropolitan Opera star, who was presented in concert by the Birmingham Music Club.

Chi Sigma Phi continued adding its bit to the social and religious life at Southern. Their informal meetings each Monday in Stockham were centered around these factors. The "high church" group was pleased with ritualistic initiation and worship services. Those less formally inclined were satisfied with the inspiration afforded by the programs and speakers. Naturally everyone was eager for refreshment time to come to see what Elvin had planned.

Chi Sigma Phi is making a distinctive contribution to the religious tenor of the campus, not only for the individual members but for the campus as a whole.

The standards of YWCA are wel-known to all Americans. At Southern, those standards were upheld and augmented.

The objectives of YWCA are: political effectiveness, Christian faith, equality, and world organization. The group is for all girls.

Through its various meetings at 'Southern, the "Y" endeavored to promote the above-mentioned objectives. But it tried to promote them not only in regularly scheduled meetings, but at all times—in the minds and hearts of its members and of the entire student body.

Through interesting programs and individual persuasion, the "Y" performed admirable service to the whole campus. Its success deserves to be noted.

METHODIST STUDENT MOVEMENT

The purpose of the recently organized M.S.M. is to create in Methodist college students an interest in their church. Earnest efforts are being made by the membership committee to see that every one of the Methodist students actually takes active part in his church. Week-end caravans were sent to churches to help in youth organizations. A worship library of program material and worship centers were started. Daily devotionals and prayer were emphasized. Attendance at Morning Watch was urged. Grace at meals was encouraged. A M.S.M. office and a private prayer-room were promised as soon as space is available. Other religious activities were participated in by the Methodists. The M.S.M. in its first few months tried hard to live up to its aim not to be another monthly meeting but an active, working, praying movement.

"Little Sisters" to the YWCA, the Freshman Commission is a group of freshman women, the leaders from the freshman class. Especially was it their duty to aid other new students along the rough, rugged road to a successful first year in the new undertaking. They aided in orientation, put students on the right track, offered assistance when the going was hardest. Moreover, the group sparked the regular meetings of 'Southern's YWCA.

The Freshman Commission this year, as always, worked hard. The best proof of that success is in the large number of friends the Commission has gained this past year.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club's policy of come-as-you-will did not keep students away. It was free, but they still came. And IRC registered an interesting, profitable year.

The IRCers heard Louie Comp and Jack Conway back from Chick a meeting with the Student F- 2 Croups. They listened to Peggy Con vivid recapitulation of a year in Macrid. And they still protested the Boswell Amendment.

Organized to promote discussion and interest in world problems, the International Relations Club idea is well-adapted to Birmingham-Southern. For with 'Southern's many students from other lands, Hilltoppers can't forget for a moment that there are pressing problems of utmost importance to the world and to them.

The year was highlighted by the student-faculty debate in Munger Auditorium. With the debate and its many, varied discussions, the International Relations Club concluded a successful year, looks forward to another in which still more students will join the ranks of the worldly-minded.

With a sports manager like "Bib" Hughes, an advisor like Coach Englebert, and a President like Catherine Stone, it was inevitable that the Independents should have a successful year. They managed to win a lion's share of the Intramural tournaments, led by six of the ten high point women for the Winter quarter.

A banquet honoring Coach Englebert came as a highlight of the year's activities in which members played important roles in plays, operettas, elections, and furnished leadership in campus life, Mortar Board, and the Southern Accent. New mirrors, drapes, and venetian blinds added finishing touches to the room, a centre of work and fun.

"Angel's Perch" had a big year of halo shining and wing flapping in 1947. Less we forget: The "Philly" accent that shrilled forth on the loud speaker at regular intervals; the sensation of being dragged out of bed at twelve o'clock for a fire drill; the frequent dances and the miles of ruffles that Andrews Hall sent to same; the remarks of the crew who hung over the banisters to see who was dating whom; the time limit on the phone calls; Annie Mae's illnes; our Christmas party with just "buckets" of food; Bib's firecrackers; the series of weddings throughout the year; our "chat" with Dr. Burkhart; Mrs. Sherrod's efficiency in any capacity; the feeling of finding that last sweater in the bookstore (on the girl from across the hall); our Latin-American girls who are "coo-ming"; and how Mrs. Booker just bows down to evening dresses.
